

Appendix 11: Distribution of mimicry patterns on the phylogeny

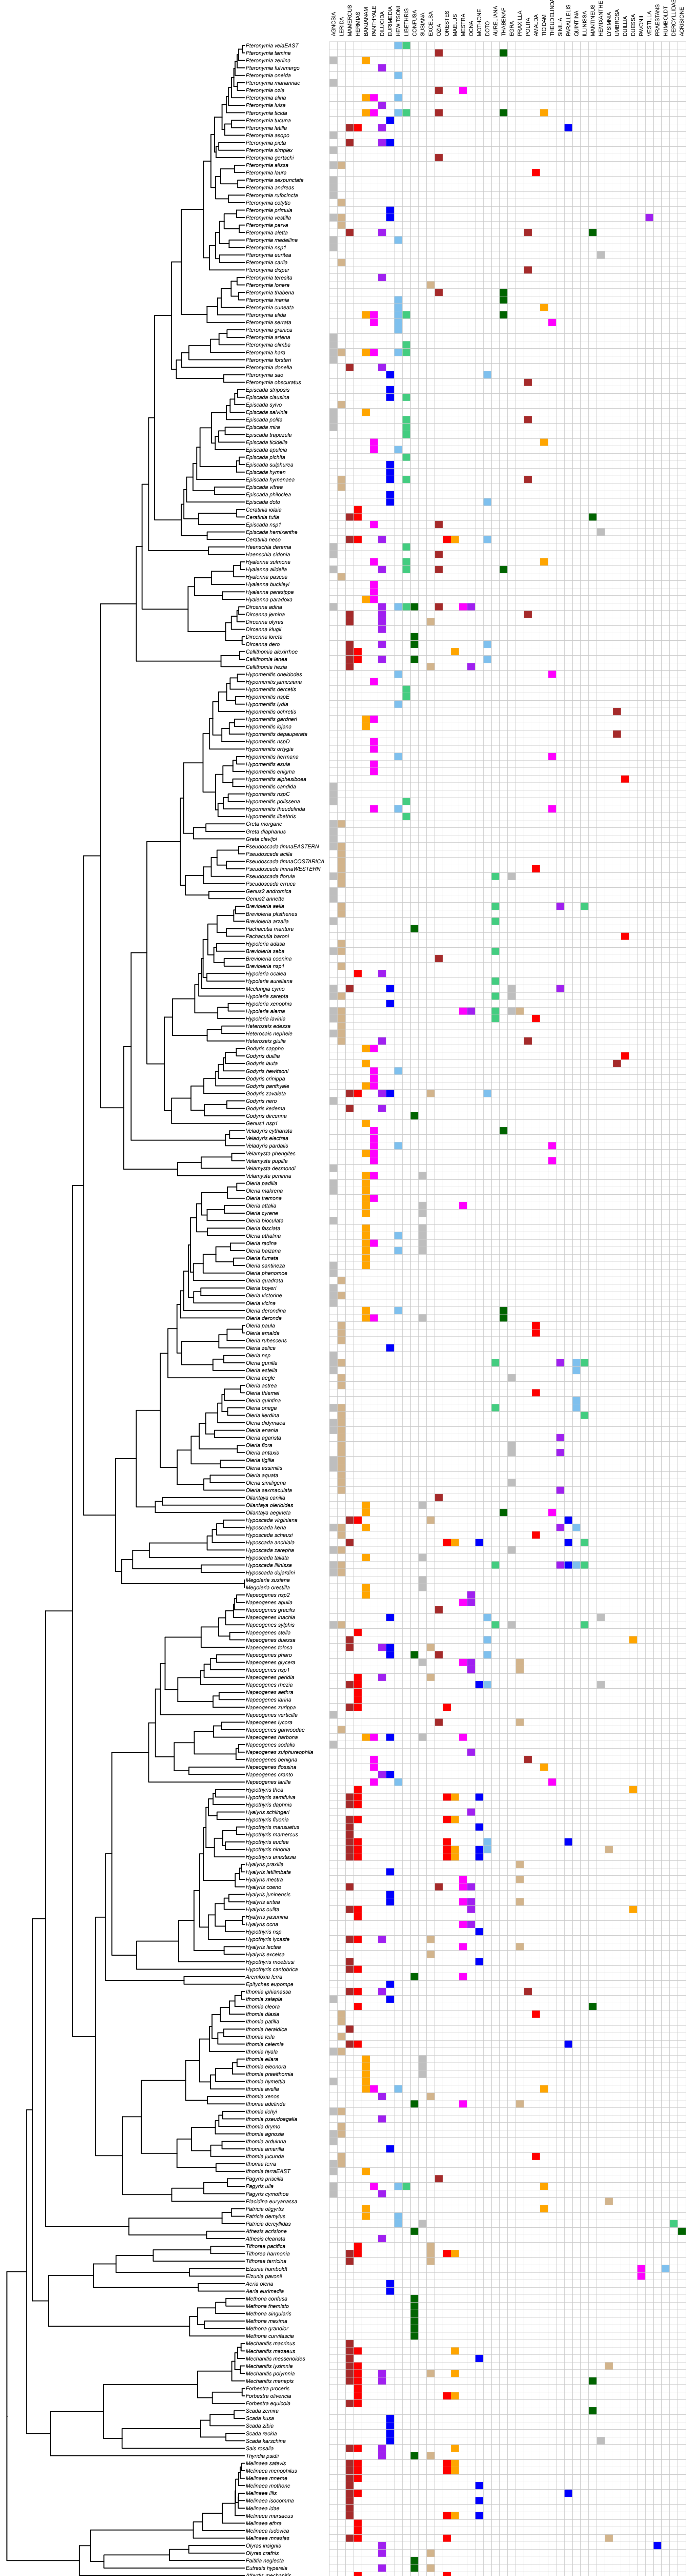

Figure S10: Heatmap of the 44 mimicry patterns on the phylogeny of the tribe Ithomiini from Chazot et al., 2019. The phylogeny includes 339 out of the 396 known species (85.6%). Mimicry rings are ordered from left to right by frequency of occurrences across the species.

Reference:

Chazot, N., Willmott, K. R., Lamas, G., Freitas, A. V. L., Piron-Prunier, F., Arias, C. F., Mallet, J., De-Silva, D. L., & Elias, M. (2019). Renewed diversification following Miocene landscape turnover in a neotropical butterfly radiation. Global Ecology and Biogeography, 28(8), 1118–1132. <https://doi.org/10.1111/geb.12919>